CHANGING THE GAME. AGAIN.

At John Deere, we're always looking for ways to improve the efficiency of your logging operation. With expert insight from our Customer Advocate Groups (CAG), our new L-Series line of Skidders and Wheeled Feller Bunchers can do just that. Their larger cabs feature keyless start and adaptable control options. And their improved serviceability features include easier access to critical components, JDLink™ and remote diagnostics. Forget best-in-class. We designed these machines to be "best-in-forest." Because at John Deere, We're For Loggers.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Welcome to the 2015 Paul Bunyan Show, the largest and oldest forest industry Show in the United States.

This 69th showing focuses on education, technology, products, services and entertainment associated with the forest industry.

With over 140 exhibitors, the Paul Bunyan Show represents all aspects of forest products and equipment in the industry.

So visit with the exhibitors as they demonstrate their products and equipment, attend our educational sessions, and be sure to watch the exciting competitions we have lined up for you. Enjoy the day as you experience an industry that is vital to our economy, our environment and our quality of life.

And, last but not least, be sure to attend the wood auction on Sunday at 2:00 PM where all of the wood processed throughout the weekend will be up for sale to the highest bidder.

On behalf of all of our sponsors, exhibitors and the staff and members of the Ohio Forestry Association, we welcome you to the Paul Bunyan Show!

Ed Robbins
President, Ohio Forestry Association

The mission of the Paul Bunyan ShowSM is to provide access to current knowledge and technology which enhances the quality of life and market competitiveness of individuals, families, industries, and communities. This mission is accomplished by showcasing research, products, services, and experience through educational exhibits, presentations, and demonstrations on the forest industries, natural resources and lifestyles.

1:00 PM HOW TO CUT AND SELL RAILROAD CROSSTIES (additional fee applies, purchase tickets in the OFA Show Office)

North American railroads use about 22 million crossties each year, and many of those ties are cut from Appalachian hardwood. In this program, learn what the railroads have set forth as requirements for crossties. We'll discuss how to get the most money from prospective tie logs: the bucking decisions you make in the woods and the way you choose to saw your tie logs can significantly affect your income. PRESENTER: Terry Conners is a Wood Products Extension Specialist at the University of Kentucky and has been involved in small business start-ups, lumber drying, grading railroad ties. Most of his work involves helping small wood businesses. LOCATION: Sawmill & Woodlot Seminar Hall

1:00 PM MANAGING YOUR FOREST FOR WILDLIFE HABITAT AND TIMBER PRODUCTION

You do not have to choose between managing your forestland for timber or wildlife. Spend some time with Service Forester Jeremy Scherf as he covers some tips and techniques you can use to improve your forest while also increasing the quality of your wildlife habitat. LOCATION: Education Hall

1:30 PM INTERNATIONAL LUMBERJACK COMPETITION

Lumberjacks from the United States and beyond will show their skills in this action packed competition. Athletes will compete in the underhand chop, open chainsaw, axe throwing, standing block, spring board, Jack and Jill crosscut, two person crosscut and always a fan favorite the hot saws, and new this year, the Jill and Jill crosscut, and women's underhand chop. The Paul Bunyan Show will also be the home of the Stihl Timbersports national championship competition in the underhand chop. - 3:00 PM INTRODUCTION TO WOOD DRYING FOR SMALL BUSINESSES AND HOMEOWNERS (additional fee applies, purchase tickets in the OFA Show Office)
Many small businesses and homeowners would like to know how they can dry their own lumber as cheaply as possible, and solar drying is often the first type of dry kiln considered. We'll briefly discuss solar kilns, but mostly about how to dry wood with as little degrade as possible. Proper drying usually means having more control over the drying conditions than solar kilns offer, so we'll also discuss the advantages of dehumidification dry kilns for small wood businesses. PRESENTER: Terry Conners is a Wood Products Extension Specialist at the University of Kentucky and has been involved in small business start-ups, lumber drying and grading railroad ties. Most of his work involves helping small wood businesses. LOCATION: Sawmill & Woodlot Seminar Hall

Ohio's Forests and Forest Products Industry

SILENT WONDERS OF OUR STATE

Bring up the subject of Ohio forests or wood products in a discussion, and you often get scant stares or have a typically-short conversation. Most people have no idea Ohio even has forests, let alone that they produce forest products, some of which are prized throughout the world.

Yes, Ohio has both a significant amount of forest land as well as a forest products industry which rivals that in many states.

OHIO'S FORESTS ARE THE WOOD SOURCE FOR AN INDUSTRY THAT ADDS MORE THAN $22 BILLION IN TOTAL ECONOMIC ACTIVITY EACH YEAR TO OHIO'S ECONOMY.

Would you believe that Ohio has 8.2 million acres of forest land, and since World War II, more than 5 million acres of forest have regrown in the state? Approximately 31% of the state, or nearly one in three acres of Ohio, are forest. Forests cover about the same amount of Ohio land as corn and soybeans.

Equally remarkable is these forests, comprised almost entirely of hardwood trees, have a standing inventory of more than 50 billion board feet. Each year, the forests grow almost 2 billion board feet of wood, some of which is harvested (about 500 million board feet each year), some of which dies, and the remainder stays in the woods, allowing the standing inventory to grow by more than a billion board feet each year.

Hardwood species like the white and red oaks, black walnut, black cherry, white ash, yellow poplar and hickory are some of the dozens of species manufactured into various products used in Ohio and shipped throughout the country and to every corner of the globe.

Ohio is especially known for the quality of its hardwood trees that grow so well due to particularly good soils and a favorable climate. Especially valuable logs, lumber and veneer get exported to Asian, European, Middle Eastern, and South American countries which are then manufactured into a host of products used every day throughout the world.

Ohio's forests are the wood source for an industry that adds more than $22 billion in total economic activity each year to Ohio's economy.

The Ohio forest products industry is comprised of four overall product sectors including Forestry and Logging, Wood Products, Wood Furniture and Paper Products.

The Forestry and Logging Sector includes businesses and owners that grow forests and harvest the timber for eventual manufacturing. The Wood Products Sector processes the logs into lumber and other products like veneer, railroad ties, and dimension and composite timbers. The Wood Furniture Sector is a large group of businesses that manufacture sawn and processed lumber into residential, institutional, and business furniture used in almost every facet of our lives. The Pulp and Paper Sector, which is the greatest economic impact of the four groups, processes cellulose from wood fiber to manufacture paper, packaging and other cardboard products.

Collectively, these sectors directly employ nearly 48,000 people who earn more than $2.4 billion per year and add $12.7 billion in economic activity to the economy. When indirect and induced employment and impacts are combined, more than 118,000 people are employed in Ohio because of forest products.

FORESTRY AND LOGGING

Forestry and Logging directly employs 2,700 people. However, 1,500 more people are employed in Ohio because of these sectors. Total impacts include...

- $106 million in wages and benefits
- $212 million in value added
- $434 million in total economic activity

WOOD PRODUCTS

Wood Products Manufacturing directly employs 13,200 people. However, 14,500 more Ohioans are employed because of these sectors. Total impacts include...

- $1.12 billion in wages and benefits
- $1.62 billion in value added
- $3.72 billion in total economic activity

WOOD FURNITURE

Wood Furniture Manufacturing directly employs 12,200 people. However, 11,700 more Ohioans are employed because of these sectors. Total impacts include...

- $1.05 billion in wages and benefits
- $1.51 billion in value added
- $3.14 billion in total economic activity

PAPER PRODUCTS

Paper Manufacturing is the largest contributor to Ohio's forest economy, directly employing 19,800 people. However, 45,500 more people are employed in Ohio because of these sectors. Total impacts include...

- $3.50 billion in wages and benefits
- $5.84 billion in value added
- $15.15 billion in total economic activity

Among the 50 states in the country:

- Ohio ranks 1st in employment per thousand acres of forest land;
- Ohio is the nation's 2nd largest pallet producer;
- The Ohio paper industry is 4th in the nation in terms of earnings;
- The Ohio "Amish Cluster" produces 10% of the nation's domestic furniture;
- In Ohio, 8% of manufacturing is wood based.

Those are pretty remarkable numbers and strong testament to the economic value and importance of Ohio's forests and the wood products that come from them.

The total impacts of the forest products industry on Ohio's economy. Figures are rounded with dollars reported in millions.

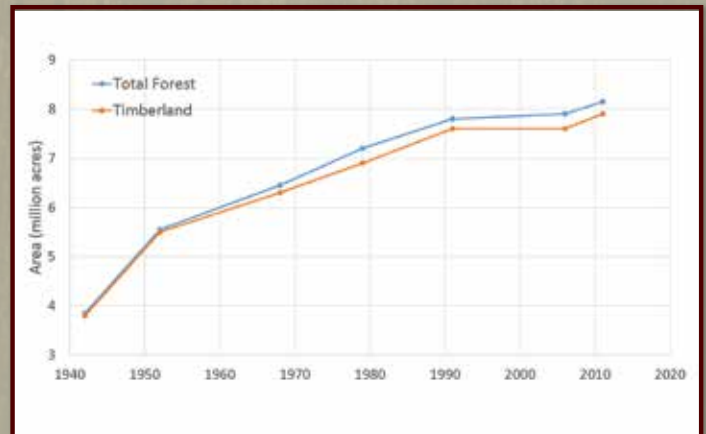

Impact Type	Employment	Labor Income	Value-Added	Output
Direct Impact	47,905	$2,589	$3,826	$12,753
Indirect Impact	32,148	$1,702	$2,679	$5,132
Induced Impact	37,978	$1,401	$2,511	$4,164
Total Impact	118,031	$5,693	$9,017	$22,050

OHIO'S FORESTS AND WOOD PRODUCTS FUTURE

Wood and wood fiber is manufactured into more than 5,000 products that we all use every day, sometimes in products we are not even aware of. And more products and uses continue to be developed through research and new engineering ideas, expanding the world of wood use.

Examples include the use of nanotechnology to make new products from wood fiber like resins and polymers for a vast array of new products. Architects and engineers are re-thinking the use of wood in tall building construction to create safer and more stable structures that withstand fire and disaster events. The wood adds beauty to the buildings too.

New products demand more wood and harvesting. But Ohio forests are sustainably grown and harvested, and they have the growing capacity to produce much more wood without ever running out.

The future is bright for wood products and especially for those grown and manufactured in Ohio. The Paul Bunyan Show is an important event, providing business people in forestry and the industry a venue to view and purchase new harvesting and wood manufacturing equipment, which is used to produce the world of wood products we need and want.

THE 2015 SEMINARS LIST

Register today at the Paul Bunyan Show Office

Friday, Oct. 2

9:30 AM to 11:00 AM The Basics of Hardwood Lumber Grading

This seminar will introduce participants to the standard grading rules of the National Hardwood Lumber Grading Association and demonstrate how they are applied. Participants are expected to participate in the application of the grading rules. Bring a calculator and something to write with.

Presenter: Brian H. Bond

12:30 PM to 2 PM Sawing for Grade and Patterns in Hardwoods –Part 1

Various sawing patterns are used to maximize the value of material produced from a hardwood log. In this session different sawing methods will be discussed, including grade sawing and quatersawing. This session will include sawing exercises to not only demonstrate the topics presented but allow the participants to apply their newly learned knowledge.

Presenter: Brian H. Bond

3:00 PM to 4:30 PM Sawing for Grade and Patterns in Hardwoods –Part 2

Various sawing patterns are used to maximize the value of material produced from a hardwood log. In this session different sawing methods will be discussed, including grade sawing and quatersawing. This session will include sawing exercises to not only demonstrate the topics presented but allow the participants to apply their newly learned knowledge.

Presenter: Brian H. Bond

Saturday, Oct. 3

9:30 AM to 11:00 AM Making Money Selling Hardwood Lumber

The business world can be unforgiving, but I can't count how many times I've been approached by someone who just bought a new piece of equipment and asked me to help them find customers for their new product. Things don't have to work that way. In this session we will talk about writing a simple yet effective business plan, discuss how to market your products, and grow your business effectively with minimal cost.

Presenter: Terry Conners

11:30 AM to 12:30 PM Wood Magic (A FREE Seminar!)

Wood Magic is a program that demonstrates the importance of wood in everyday life. Participants will learn about what foresters do and why what they do is important. Identifying trees, growth rings, wood properties, decay, musical instruments and forest fires in a fun, interactive presentation. Everyone will leave with a wooden bubble blower!

Presenter: Terry Conners

1:00 PM to 2:30 PM How to Cut and Sell Railroad Cross ties

North American railroads use about 22 million cross ties each year, and many of those ties are cut from Appalachian hardwood. In this session, I'll describe what the railroads have set forth as requirements for cross ties. How to get the most money from prospective tie logs: the bucking decisions you make in the woods and the way you choose to saw your tie logs can significantly affect your income. Presenter: Terry Conners

3:00 PM to 4:30 PM Introduction to Wood Drying for Small Businesses & Homeowners

Many small businesses and homeowners would like to know how they can dry their own lumber as cheaply as possible, and solar drying is often the first type of dry kiln considered. In this session we'll briefly discuss solar kilns, but mostly how to dry wood with as little degrade as possible. We'll also discuss the advantages of dehumidification dry kilns for small wood businesses. Presenter: Terry Conners

Brian H. Bond is an Associate Professor and Extension Specialist in the Department of Sustainable Biomaterials at Virginia Tech. of time working with the general public as well.

Terry Conners presently works as a Wood products Extension Specialist at the University of Kentucky but has been involved in small business start-ups, lumber drying, grading railroad ties. Most of his work involves helping small wood businesses.
